Ashutosh Khadenga
Senior Mechanical Engineer at COMACOE Ltd.
Alumni of Batch 2015

Hi,

I am Asutosh Khadanga, a proud alumnus of the Class of 2015, Mechanical Engineering. My time at GIFT was a transformative phase that laid the foundation for both my professional and personal growth. The college provided me with opportunities to excel in diverse fields, including Theatre Olympiads, essay and debate competitions, and event management, while also encouraging participation in dance and sports. Industrial visits and workshops enriched my practical knowledge, bridging the gap between academics and real-world applications. These experiences, combined with the unwavering support of our esteemed faculty, honed my technical expertise and interpersonal skills, preparing me for the challenges of the professional world.

Today, as a Senior Mechanical Engineer at COMACOE Ltd., I carry forward the lessons and values instilled during my college years. I am forever grateful to my alma mater for shaping the person I am today.
